

Health Promotion Plan Presentation

Health promotion has become a key tool in addressing public health problems in modern times. The world faces a unique crossroads due to the unprecedented rise of noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) such as cardiovascular disease, cancer, diabetes and mental disorders. It is essential to address these issues through effective and cost-effective models of health promotion that engage all sectors including government, industry and community. As part of a clinical learning activity, resume the role of a how can i ace my homework nurse tasked with addressing the specific health concern in your selected community. This time, you will present, via educational outreach, the hypothetical health promotion plan you developed in Assessment 1.

Determining an effective teaching strategy, communicating the plan with professionalism and cultural sensitivity, soliciting input on the value of your plan to its audience and revising the plan as applicable are all aspects of your responsibilities. To engage your audience, you decide to develop a slide presentation that communicates your plan. Your slides enhance key points and adhere to visual design best practices, while audio and speaker notes help explain the content to your audience. This PowerPoint is clear, organized and professionally presented. Using your plan from MBA FPX 5010 Assessment 3 Performance Evaluation, build a slide presentation (PowerPoint preferred) of the health promotion plan you developed. It must include a voice-over and speaker notes to communicate your plan.

Health promotion is more relevant than ever in addressing public health problems. It is a social movement aimed at empowering people to make positive health and lifestyle choices that increase the resilience of the individual, family, and NURS FPX 6030 Assessment 3. Health promotion is an approach that addresses the needs of individuals, families and communities to improve their health. This includes lifestyle choices, nutrition, physical activity, stress management, social support and mindfulness.

Tobacco use is a major public health concern for New York City, United States and world wide. It is a contributing factor to the development of several diseases including lung cancer and death. As a nurse, you work to address community health concerns and promote healthy behaviors. Tobacco use cessation is an important part of this process. Health promotion is a NURS FPX 6026 Assessment 1 an approach to health care that addresses the entire spectrum of population health. It addresses all factors that influence health and disease and promotes healthy living behaviors, thereby, reducing the burden of diseases and their recurrences (Healthy People 2020 n.d.; Flanders, 2018).

MORE

professes to furnish understudies

Ace Homework Writer Survey

How to Make an Expansion Recommendation